BILL ANALYSIS:

Section 1 of the bill would impose a fee of $150 payable to the Secretary of State when filing of articles of validation to (required by Section 3 of the bill under certain circumstances when ratifying a prior corporate action).

Section 2 would authorize the articles of incorporation to include a provision limiting or eliminating any duty of a director, officer or any other person to offer the corporation the right to have or participate in a business opportunity before the director, officer, or other person pursues that opportunity. (Sections 10 and 12 would make related conforming changes.)

Section 3 would provide that a corporate action is not void or voidable for failure to meet authorization requirements if the corporation ratifies the action following prescribed procedures.

Section 4 would require the holders of two or more series of a class of shares to vote together as a single voting group on a proposed plan of merger or conversion if the plan would entitle them to vote as separate voting groups and would affect those series in the same or a substantially similar way.

Section 5 would remove the statutory 10-year limit on the duration of a voting trust and would provide that its duration shall be as set forth in the voting trust, in the case of voting trusts that become effective on or after October 1, 2017.

Section 6 would remove the statutory 10-year limit on the duration of a shareholders' agreement for agreements that become effective on or after October 1, 2017. Section 6 would also permit enforcement of an agreement among shareholders of a privately-held corporation governing the exercise of various corporate powers, management of the corporation's business and affairs, or the relationship between or among the shareholders, directors, and the corporation, even if the agreement is inconsistent with one or more provisions of the Business Corporations Act, as long as it is not contrary to public policy. Such a shareholder agreement would cease to be effective if the corporation subsequently becomes a public corporation, and any references to it in the articles of incorporation or bylaws could be deleted without shareholder action by an amendment to the articles or bylaws adopted by the board of directors. (Sections 14 and 15 would make related conforming changes.)
