OVERVIEW: Section 31 of S.L. 2024-25 eliminates the requirement that the Director of the Budget annually report to the General Assembly on the number of State employees who are Work First Program recipients.

This section became effective July 9, 2024.

CURRENT LAW: The Director of the Budget is required to report to the General Assembly on the number of State employees who have received assistance from the Work First Program in the prior calendar year. The Work First Program, within the Department of Health and Human Services, provides financial assistance to qualified families to help them achieve self-sufficiency. The maximum net family annual income eligibility standards for Work First Family Assistance range from $4,344 for a family of one to $9,256 for a family of eight.

BILL ANALYSIS: Section 31 eliminates the requirement that the Director of the Budget annually report to the General Assembly on the number of State employees who are Work First Program recipients.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This section became effective July 9, 2024.
