BILL ANALYSIS: House Bill 959 would require local boards of education to adopt an internet safety policy. The policies would be required to prohibit students from accessing the following:

- Data or information maintained by the local school administrative unit, including by hacking.
- Social media platforms through internet access provided by the local school administrative unit unless directed by a teacher to do so for an educational purpose.
- TikTok or any successor platform on devices owned or provided by the local school administrative unit or through internet access provided by the local school administrative unit. The policy would also be required to prohibit using TikTok or any successor platform as a platform to communicate or promote any local school administrative unit or school sponsored club, extracurricular organization, or athletic team.

The policies would also be required to limit student access to only age-appropriate subject matter and materials; protect the safety and security of students when they are accessing email, chat rooms, and other forms of electronic communication; and prevent access to websites, web applications, or software that does not protect against the use of a student's personal information.

House Bill 959 would also require local boards of education to provide instruction on social media and its effects on health. Instruction would be required to be provided once during elementary school, once during middle school, and twice during high school. This instruction could be offered as a part of the required mental and emotional health instruction and would have to include information regarding at least the following:

- Negative effects of social media on mental health, including addiction.
- Distribution of misinformation on social media.
